DOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

Job description

A Doctoral Research Fellowship (SKO 1017) in Scandinavian Literature is available at the Department of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies, University of Oslo.

The position is part of the project «Unashamed Citizenship. Minority Literary Voices in Contemporary Scandinavia» (med lenke til projektside:

<https://www.hf.uio.no/iln/english/research/projects/minority-literary-voices-in-contemporary-scandinavia/index.html>).

The successful applicant is to develop and complete an original PhD project, focusing on how literary texts written by authors with a migrant and/or indigenous background are used in Norwegian language arts instruction in secondary education. The project can include presentation, selection, “canonization,” contextualization, and framing of the texts. It can also study accompanying assignments provided in textbooks and other educational media (e.g. national reading campaigns), on exams, and/or in the classroom in oral and/or written form. While the project’s point of departure is contemporary literature, we are also interested in historical comparisons, as well as comparative studies (within and outside the Scandinavian countries).

The applicant will be affiliated with the Faculty's organized research training. The academic work is to result in a doctoral thesis that will be defended at the Faculty with a view to obtaining the degree of PhD. The successful candidate is expected to join the existing research milieu or network and contribute to its development. Read more about the doctoral degree.

The appointment is for a duration of 3 years. All PhD Candidates who submit their doctoral dissertation for assessment with a written recommendation from their supervisor within 3 years or 3 ½ years after the start of their PhD position, will be offered, respectively, a 12 or 6 month Completion Grant.

Qualification requirements

- A Master's degree or equivalent in Scandinavian literature or Didactics of literature. The Master's degree must have been obtained and the final evaluation must be available by the application deadline.
- Fluent oral and written communication skills in English and a Scandinavian language.
- Personal suitability and motivation for the position.

To be eligible for admission to the doctoral programmes at the University of Oslo, applicants must, as a minimum, have completed a five-year graduation course (Master’s degree or equivalent), including a Master’s thesis of at least 30 ECTS. In special cases, the Faculty may grant admission on the basis of a one-year Master course following an assessment of the study programme’s scope and quality.

In assessing the applications, special emphasis will be placed on:

- The project's scientific merit, research-related relevance and innovation
- The applicant's estimated academic and personal ability to complete the project within the time frame
- The applicant's ability to complete research training
- Good collaboration skills and an ability to join interdisciplinary academic communities

Applicants who have recently graduated with excellent results may be given preference.
