POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

Job description

A Postdoctoral Research Fellowship (SKO 1352) is available at the Department of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies, University of Oslo.

The position is linked to the research group Voicing Democracy. The research group is funded by the University of Oslo's interdisciplinary initiative UiO: Democracy.

The Voicing Democracy Research Group brings together scholars from different disciplines to explore democracy and citizenship from a cultural and textual perspective. Through multifaceted and interdisciplinary research on texts – both historical and contemporary, artistic and non-artistic, and across different media – the group initiates a new interdisciplinary research field: The study of 'textual citizenship' as it is practiced in and across different areas of society. This includes investigations into the historical origins, present conditions, and future prospects of relevant cultures of expression. The overarching aim is to gain knowledge of the cultural and textual workings of modern democracy, as well as to develop new theoretical and methodological concepts and models for such studies within a national and international context. In this way, the group's research will broaden and deepen our understanding of textual practices that challenge contemporary democracy within politics, art, media, bureaucracy, education, and practises that help support, develop, and invigorate democratic culture.

A complete project description for the research group's work during the employment period is available on the group's website: Demokratiets tekstkulturer - Department of Linguistics and Nordic Studies \(uio.no\)

The candidate is expected to present a research project that is closely linked to the group's research profile and suitable for contributing to democracy research of high scientific quality. We seek projects that are suited to realize the research group's interdisciplinary and theoretical ambitions.

The position is available for a period of 3 years. There is a 10 % component of the position which is devoted to teaching and administrative duties.

The successful candidate is expected to become part of the research environment/network of the department and contribute to its development. The main purpose of postdoctoral research fellowships is to qualify researchers for work in higher academic positions within their disciplines.

Requirements

- Fluent oral and written communication skills in English and a Scandinavian language
- Personal suitability and motivation for the position

The doctoral dissertation must be submitted for evaluation by the closing date. Appointment is dependent on the public defense of the doctoral thesis being approved.

In the evaluation of the applications, emphasis will be placed on:

- the research project's scientific merit, research-related relevance and innovation
- the projects quality and relevance to the research group's areas of interest
- the projects interdisciplinary and theoretical and/or methodological ambitions
- the applicant's estimated academic and personal ability to carry out the project within the allotted time frame and contribute to the research group
- the applicant's mediation skills
- Good co-operative skills, and the ability to successfully join in academic collaboration within and across disciplines

We offer

- Salary NOK XXX – XXX per annum depending on qualifications (lønnsstrinn 59-67 LO/YS/UNIO)
- A professionally stimulating working environment
