

PRIO-IMK internship posting, Spring 2024

PRIO's Communication Department is looking for interns for Autumn 2024!

We're looking for candidates who are motivated and enthusiastic, and who have a genuine interest in using communication to do good in the world. This is a great opportunity for learning new communication skills, seeing how a world-leading peace institute works, and putting the skills you've learned at university to work in a dynamic environment.

Our communication works on spreading research via seminars, media, podcasts, social media, blogs and other channels. You would be joining a small, close nit team of five communicators that are available to the whole organization, so the jobs we do are diverse with an interesting mix of work.

We are looking for:

- Someone who is enthusiastic about the communication of research and wants to learn more
- Interested in social media strategies and dissemination
- Interested in organizing peace research events
- Willing to learn new skills and programmes
- Fluent in English is essential
- Experienced with Adobe Suite is a plus (especially Adobe Spark, Lightroom, Audition)

What you will gain:

- Academic Credits towards your degree
- Insight into a leading peace research institute
- Opportunity to work closely with a team of professional communication experts
- Transferable skills useful for future employment
- Inclusion in PRIO's social events and groups
- A letter of completion of the internship

If you have any questions, please reach out to Michelle Delaney, PRIO Communication Director (michelle@prio.org)
