Take home exam, spring 2019

Monday 1 April at 11:00 – Thursday 4 April at 11:00

Candidates must submit their exam paper in Inpera no later than Thursday 4 April by 11.00 (11AM).

The exam consists of two (2) pages and two (2) questions. You must answer one out of the two questions.

Before you start writing your exam submission, you must ensure that you have read and understood the University of Oslo's information about cheating:

<http://www.uio.no/english/studies/examinations/cheating/index.html>

You must use a reference style (such as Harvard, MLA, Chicago or APA) throughout your exam submission, and in the bibliography/reference list at the end of the submission. Therefore, you must also read the University's guidelines:

Answer one of the following questions:

1) Wars are not only fought on the battlefield, but also in the realms of media, public opinion and in the narratives that exist about conflict. What difference (if any) have advances in communication technology made, over history, in the scope of conflict and the ability of different actors to "win" the war? Relate your analysis to at least a historical case in addition to at least one more recent development. Use relevant theory and concepts from the course readings and, if relevant, class discussions.

2) Former war correspondent Martin Bell (2008: 221) argues that twenty-first century warfare 'offers no foothold for independent and free-ranging journalism. He calls this the 'death of [war] news.' Assess the validity of his claim by discussing to what extent the military and governments (official sources) can (or not) influence the reporting of conflict. Relate your analysis to at least a historical case in addition to at least one more recent development. Use relevant theory and concepts from the course readings and, if relevant, class discussions.
